

At the fast food restaurant

By Fu Man Hei, Katrina (5C)

Yesterday, Katie and I ate at a fast food restaurant. We ordered French fries, hamburgers, and cola. We talked happily while we were eating. There was a loud man talking on his mobile phone who sat next to us. We felt annoyed and wanted to leave.

After a while, we found a pair of sunglasses on the table when we were leaving. I felt curious. Katie asked, 'Whose sunglasses are these?' I thought the sunglasses belonged to the man who was talking loudly next to us. We looked around the fast food restaurant.

In the end, we saw the man at the front door. We felt so happy because we could help someone.
