

6C (20) Salina Shrestha

Blizzards

There are different kinds of natural disasters. I am going to introduce one of the natural disasters - blizzards.

When there is a heavy snowstorm, the weather is very cold. It is hard to go out and get food. It is also difficult to drive because the roads are slippery with the ice and snow. Some people can't drive to work because the heavy snow which has blocked the roads.

In order to stay safe, drivers use special tyres and snow chains for winter. They can stop the cars from skidding into the ice and snow. People also wear a lot of clothes to keep themselves warm and they buy extra food to keep at home. You should stay indoors during the blizzards.

I think blizzards are very scary and dangerous. It is important to learn how to stay safe in different types of natural disasters. We can either donate food or clothes to help needy people.

